

100 Men Club donates $14,100 to Camp Casey supporting children struggling with cancer and rare blood disorders.

DETROIT, MI — March 26, 2018 — 100 Men Club, a group of local men committed to making a positive difference within the Metro Detroit communities and their families, announced its latest donation to Camp Casey for $14,100.

At their March meeting, three charities were nominated, and the membership voted to donate that evening's proceeds to Camp Casey. The nomination was made by 100 Men Club member Paul B. Wilbur, "I felt compelled to nominate Camp Casey for their excellent support in lifting up the hearts and minds of our Michigan children with cancer. This donation will have a significant impact on their ability to assist even more families with the therapeutic benefits resulting from this very, unique program" said Wilbur. "I learned about Camp Casey through a teacher at Bloomfield Hills High School and realized after the March 100 Men Club meeting that one of my employees had been helped by Camp Casey in the past. This makes this donation even more special to me."

Camp Casey is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit horseback riding organization for children with cancer and rare blood disorders. Through generous donations and compassionate volunteers, Camp Casey has spread the healing power of horses to over 1,600 Michigan families so far, and founder Molly Reeser has dreams of expanding throughout Michigan and hopefully, into other states in the future.

Camp Casey has been featured on NBC's TODAY Show, written about nationally in the Huffington Post, Horse Illustrated, Chronicle of the Horse and has received recognition in numerous Michigan publications. Camp Casey supports children with cancer, sickle cell anemia, and/or aplastic anemia and their families through three unique programs.

One of Camp Casey's cost-free programs, Horsey House Calls, delivers "horse camp" to the homes of children who are, oftentimes, too sick to attend regular summer camp. The Camp Casey equine staff and volunteer team travel to the homes of sick children with a horse in tow to facilitate an afternoon of riding, grooming, games, crafts, pizza and more at in the comfort of the family's home.

"Like all of Camp Casey's programs, Horsey House Calls are meant to bestow families with a glimpse of sunshine during their darkest times," says Molly Reeser, Camp Casey's Executive Director. "The incredible donation from the 100 Men Club will allow us to knock on many more doors this summer." Reeser says.
